Introduction to the Ships Upland Goose Index

Changes in computer technology; spreadsheets, conversion to Word documents and pdf publishing has meant we can separate out parts of the index that might be of specific interest to researchers.

The first sub-index created reflects the interest in ships and shipping details , with monographs on the subject being published by the Study Group and the collation of the “One Hundred Years Ago” articles by Wilf Vevers, that include the shipping records of the time published in the Falkland Islands Magazine. Shipping movements noted in Upland Goose are indexed at the start of this document.

As with the main index, the Study Group owes a tremendous debt of thanks to Steve Jarvis FRPSL, who coordinates the cataloguing of society indices into the RPSL catalogue database. Steve rendered invaluable assistance in combining the two indices and creating the sub-index document you see today.

Of course, this index is complete from 1970 only due to the efforts of Bill Featherstone, who created the Silver Jubilee Index.

An Index Entry

Taking an example of

Archibald Russell: (Ship)
Vol: IX No. 8 p:253 ill. 6/89

This refers to an entry on page 253 of the eighth Upland Goose issue of volume nine, the index item is illustrated (shown by the designation ill.) and the publication date was June 1989.

Pagination is indicated by a single page number p:253, multiple consecutive pages p:253-256 or multiple pages in an issue p:253, 257-260 as examples. Page designations include the new page numbering NIN introduced for New Issue News and WE for Weekend Supplements.

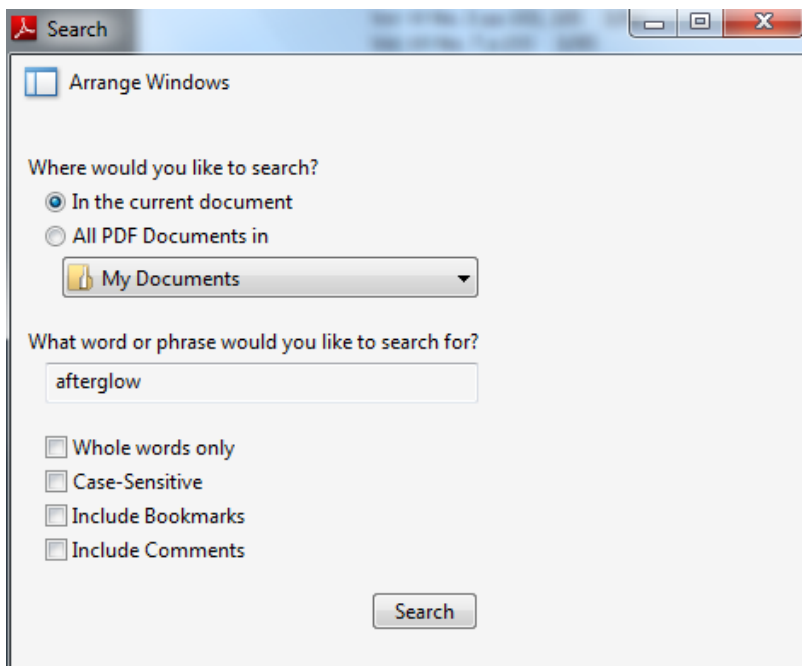

The final issue in this index, in June 2011, marked the Upland Goose changing to a designation Summer rather than the month, so you will see Sum11 as the publication date for that issue, rather than 6/11.

How to Search in this pdf Document

Of course you can use the mouse or Page Up and Page Down keys to move through the document, but the Adobe pdf document also has a powerful search facility.

To access this, right click in the document and select “Search”, or from the toolbar use (Edit > Search). You will be presented with a screen that looks like this:

Enter what you want to search for – in this example we have used “afterglow” as the search term.

The results are shown in the search box. In this case there are six instances of an index instance with Afterglow in the wording, although there may be multiple index entries under each category.

By highlighting a particular result, you will be taken to that part of the index, to see if there are multiple index entries underneath each instance shown.
